Call for Papers

Stamford Journal of English (ISSN 18189512) is a refereed academic journal, now in its fifth year, published by the Department of English at the Stamford University Bangladesh.

Published annually Stamford Journal of English embraces not only the full range of subject coverage within the field of English Studies (on a range of topics from Literature to English Language Teaching), but also the increasingly wide range of approaches and perspectives that can be brought to bear upon the discipline. We welcome, therefore, both traditional and modern approaches to the field, from close critical readings of literary texts, to interdisciplinary approaches or cross-subject analysis.

We invite academic papers (3000-5000 words) on research-related issues and review-essays of recent publications. All typed script, including correspondence, should be double-spaced, APA/MLA (7th Edition) referenced, sent via e-mail, one disk saved as a Word document copy and accompanied by one hard copy of the text.

The submission deadline for Volume 6 is 14th April 2011. Send all hard copies via mail to Professor Syed Anwarul Huq, Editor, Stamford Journal of English; and one e-mail (englishstamford@stamforduniversity.edu.bd) addressed to Ms. Tahsina Yasmin, Associate Editor, Stamford Journal of English.

A full style sheet of submission guidelines is available by email and should be requested before submitting final copy.
